

Andreas Krämer DJ, Producer

Andreas Kraemer started producing back in the early nineties, when he was 16. He then formed the Frankfurt based label, Thai Records, together with Planet Core Productions (PCP). With 18 he remixed the Bladerunner Theme from the Music Genius Vangelis. Andreas then went on to produce endless releases for Universal Prime Breaks, Drizzly Records. After a short time Andreas builds the 2 Techno Labels at Drizzly Records: Construct Rhythm and Form Recordings. With his unbelievable long release list (over 200) he is one of Germany's leading techno dj...s/producers.

Russenmafia, Schwarze Puppen, SOD, Aquaplex, Junk Projekt are only some Projects from the German Techno Legend. He also produces for many Artists in all genres of Music.

Andreas Krämer and Thomas Pogadl are a big piece of techno history and culture. Thomas Pogadl got his first single on Tetsuo Records and the following parts @ Drizzly Records. He also worked along time at Drizzly Record. That was the place there Andreas and Thomas met the first time. At the start of the 20th century, Andreas & Thomas formed CR Studios, which is based in Frankfurt/Main. In those studios, they produced many tracks and remixes together as many different aliases, and became very big names in the music scene. Schwarze Puppen - "Schwarze Puppen" (Overdose Records) became one of their most important projects together, the name was taken from an extravagant tale in an African poetry book, which was later interpreted by Klaus Kinski. The music video to "Schwarze Puppen" was inspired from the Edgar Wallace films in the 60...s, which were always in a "film noir" style, and always created a suspenseful atmosphere. This track immediately became a hit, and reached the Top 3 in the German Dance charts and the Official German Top 40! Andreas & Thomas then released a follow-up entitled "Tanz" with vocals from the German singer, Nina Hagen, which was also a success in all German Dance charts. Andreas & Thomas had further success, when Paul van Dyk approached them to sign Solid Sleep - "Clubattack" from Axwax Records (Drizzly) to his label (Vandit Records), and to remix it as well. The vinyl release in January 2002 was a huge hit across Europe and smashed the charts! As well as producing music together, Andreas & Thomas have over many years, DJ'd together all over the world. Sydney, Melbourne, Tokyo, and Los Angeles are just some of the places they have DJ'd at. Andreas and Thomas produced many Artists in definitely every kind of electronic music and most of the projects reached cult status. The style of them is mass-compatible and groovy with the 100% floor xtc. 2008-2009 Krämer and Pogadl worked in the Studio with Pop/Dance act Loona, Talla 2XLC, Hassan Annouri feat. Sido, Harris, Dean Dawson, Afrob, D-Flame and many other artists... In 2010 a Krämer/Pogadl Album is planned and lots of more upcoming projects, so watch out!
