

Mike Foyle DJ - Producer

England based DJ and Producer Mike Foyle has certainly made a name for himself over the last few years as a producer, composer and DJ that you can rely on. Mike is best known for integrating his lush piano compositions with smooth, melodic trance music, and has now released four piano trance hits on Armind Recordings along with remixes from some of the best producers on the global dance music scene.

Between his own name, his various aliases such as Andromeda, Statica and Bolt, plus numerous collaborations with the likes of Filo & Peri, the Signalrunners and X-Vertigo, Mike has put his hand to a broad range of styles from the serene and uplifting vibe of "Love Theme Dusk" to the smooth, progressive and lush "Bittersweet Nightshade" and the dark, eerie and ridiculously roof rattling "Hex"... This guy delivers anthems like your postman delivers the mail...

His DJ sets are an affair just as eclectic, featuring anything from classic trance to modern and edgy madness drenched in tantalising melodies, atmospheres and soundscapes, all expertly blended together, putting him in DJ booths worldwide from London to Edinburgh and from Jakarta to Hollywood.

Armed with a potent classical background, he is also well respected as a composer of piano music, and has begun working alongside film production companies in a bid to further develop his skills as a writer and producer on the audio-visual playing field.

Having gained a Degree and National Diploma in Music Technology, Mike is now working on experimental sonic arts projects, the most notable of which is a project designed to integrate music with audio based brainwave entrainment and biofeedback.
